It might seem a bit premature to think about how to spend New Year's Eve. However, since this year seems to be zipping by and the New Year is just over six months away, we thought we would introduce you to a great new trip to tempt you away from your normal routine of trying to make merry by watching the ball drop in New York City via your TV, three hours before midnight our time, Then off to bed. We promise you, you won't want to retire early this time!

This year, start your New Year festivities on Tuesday, Dec. 29 in Long Beach. You choice is to fly the just over one-hour, non-stop to Long Beach via Southwest Airlines or drive. You'll then check into the Marriott Long Beach, your getaway for four nights. The hotel slogan is "where the downtown and the waterfront meet," so there will be plenty to explore during your free moments.

Then on to enjoy the Ronald Reagan Presidential Library before returning to the hotel to change for a private New Year's Eve Gala dinner and party where you will enjoy dancing to an orchestra. Of course, champagne is on the menu for that New Year's Eve toast and kiss!

Your final day finds you sitting in your reserved grandstand seat on Colorado Boulevard watching the 138th Tournament of Roses parade, considered the granddaddy of all parades. There's no TV screen big enough to rival the sight, sound, smell, and feel of actually being there. Then back to the hotel to enjoy the Rose Bowl tailgate
