Experience It! Luxembourg City

A cosmopolitan capital born from a medieval city, Luxembourg is full of charm and energy. The city's old quarters and fortifications are a UNESCO World Heritage Site. Once one of the largest fortresses of modern Europe, the city is located on a rocky outcrop along the rivers with a naturally protected position. The city's fortifications were built and reinforced through the centuries as the strategic military location passed from one great European power to the next, until ultimately being partially dismantled in 1867. In this historic city, which still maintains its 10th century layout, it's fascinating to imagine everyday life in Luxembourg through the ages while exploring its storied streets.
